INFLATION AND THE BUDGET

It is most unfortunate that Congress has not yet been given a realistic analysis of precisely what is wrong with our economy and national finances.

It has before it the "economic report" of President Truman. But this never touches the heart of the problem. It is as unreal as Alice in Wonderland.

There have been statements by Republican leaders which came closer to the mark, but even these do not really face the facts.

Congressman Knutson, for example, who is on the right track with his proposal to slash income taxes 20 per cent, has given many excellent arguments in favor of that plan.

But he has not yet stressed the best argument of all, which is that this is an urgently needed step to meet an emergency situation—just as clearly indicated (to those who see the true conditions) as turning in a fire-alarm when the house is ablaze.

The financial plight of the American people is simple enough to understand. The trouble is that very few want to admit it. It can be expressed in a few words.

WE ARE IN THE MIDST OF INFLATION!

That statement, with the necessary footnotes, tells the whole story.

Moreover, once that fact is conceded, the remedies also become perfectly obvious.

What makes the matter more confusing is that many have talked about what they have called "inflation," without discussing the real situation.

President Truman, for instance, stressed rising prices as though they told the whole story of inflation. He wants controls and voluntary reductions to keep prices down. Unfortunately, such proceedings would merely add fuel to the flames. Inflation can be controlled only at the source—and the source isn't prices. They are merely by way of being barometers showing the coming storm.

Governor Dewey made a good start to clarifying the picture when he said, in his recent message:

"We cannot ignore the fact that our country, and indeed our entire world, is now in the throes of a great post-war inflation."

But he then got sidetracked by the same swamp-rabbit which has confused President Truman, and pitched into prices as being the offenders.

Now, those who want to understand the situation will have to face one fact in economics:

WEIGHT OF SUICIDE'S BODY BREAKS PIPES

Miss Christine Maple, 34, of Philadelphia, Ends Life At Langhorne

BASEMENT IS FLOODED

LANGHORNE, Jan. 13.—A young woman artist, resident of Philadelphia, ended her life at the home of friends here early today.

The victim: Miss Christine Maple, 34, of 304 S. Fawn street, Philadelphia.

Reason given for the deed by her host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Davis, 410 N. Bellevue avenue, is "mental depression."

The gruesome discovery was made at six o'clock this morning by a maid in the Davis household.

The weight of Miss Maple's body, suspended from water pipes in the basement at the Davis residence, had caused the pipes to break at the seams, and the basement was flooded with nine inches of water.

According to Mr. Davis, Miss Maple was visiting at his home for Continued on Page Three

YORK ROBBERY IS SIMILAR TO ONE HERE

Stranger Walked In and Out of Store and Then Suits Were Missed ALSO AT LANCASTER

A clothing store theft similar to the robbery of the store at Singer Brothers, Mill street, Friday afternoon of last week, has set police of York and Lancaster in a search for the thieves.

Last Friday afternoon, a customer at the Singer store is believed to have gotten away with six men's suits of clothing. The stranger made a purchase at the store and was then in and out of the store a number of times while apparently waiting for his wife. Later, he left, his wife never appeared, and shortly after the suspect's departure the six suits of clothing were missed.

A glib, talking, well-dressed stranger, under pretext of waiting for a friend, and immaculately dressed in the height of fashion, entered the Concord Factory Showroom, just outside York, Thursday. According to the manager, Louis Cedar, the man walked in and out of the place several times.

As he entered the last time, Cedar received a telephone call from Martin Fimberg, manager of the Lancaster branch. Fimberg told Cedar the Lancaster store had been looted of eight suits by a man who "waited for a friend" on Tuesday.

Upon hearing the description of the suspect, Cedar told Fimberg the man was in the York store at that moment but he would be unable to notify police. Fimberg called the Lancaster police who in turn relayed a message to York headquarters. But it developed the show-room was just beyond the city limits and therefore under jurisdiction of State Police.

TWO "ROW" OFFICES DID BIG BUSINESS

Recorder of Deeds and Register of Wills Announce Records For Year

FIGURES ARE GIVEN

DOYLESTOWN, Jan. 13.—Two "Row" offices—the Recorder of Deeds with a gain of 4,711 instruments and the Register of Wills with 628 estates filed—did a banner business in 1946.

Recorder of Deeds Howard N. Gilbert, of Perkasie, reported that 14,910 instruments were recorded in 1946 compared with 10,199 in 1945. It represents an increase of 4,711 more instruments.

Deputy Recorder Gertrude H. Glick, in her tabulations for last year, found that 8,947 deeds were recorded and 3,895 mortgages handled. Monthly tabulations are as follows:

January, 1,195 instruments; Feb., 1,077; March, 1,306; April, 1,319; May, 1,367; June, 1,229; July, 1,283; August, 1,447; September, 1,241; October, 1,257; November, 1,916; and December, 1,173.

Deputy Glick reported that the recording of discharges has fallen off with only two or three a day being brought into the office.

Register of Wills Marvin H. Keller reported that of the 628 estates filed in his office 343 were wills and 285 letters of administration.

Register Keller, who explained that 529 letters were granted, said that the total includes the filing of copies of exemplified wills and instruments in which no letters were taken out.

He listed the following monthly statistics:

January, 42 wills, 20 letters; Feb., 22 wills, 22 letters; March, 27 wills, 19 letters; April, 32 wills, 11 letters; May, 22 wills, 16 letters; June, 25 wills, 14 letters; July, 28 wills, 18 letters; August, 29 wills, 13 letters; September, 22 wills, 12 letters; October, 29 wills, 18 letters; November, 42 wills, 9 letters; December, 32 wills, 14 letters.

January with a total of 62 instruments was the busiest month and August with 33 was the slowest. The second busiest month was November with 51 wills and letters.

Annual statistics were issued by both the Recorder of Deeds and Register of Wills because Monday, Jan. 6, marked the end of the fiscal year.

AUTOS OF THE FUTURE

Many Americans cannot buy new autos, but they can find material for dreams about the car of the future in reports of the annual meeting of the Society of Automotive Engineers recently concluded in Detroit.

The motorist of the future will be able to drive 150 miles per hour, police permitting. He will enjoy greater comfort and safety as a result of independent suspension of wheels. It will be unnecessary for him to put his collar around his neck to avoid drafts, and his white shirts will never be flecked by dust.

Reid A. Raiton, consulting engineer and racing auto designer, said small car engines capable of giving speeds of more than 150 miles an hour have been developed in Europe and that these motors could be adopted easily by American manufacturers because they are only 45 cubic inches in capacity and surprisingly close to orthodox design.

He pointed out that despite attempts to be made this year to establish new world auto speed records, "we are getting close to the limit of speed which can be attained." He said jet propulsion could increase racing-car speeds, but that such a type of power plant would be of little use in passenger cars.

Altan J. Carter, project engineer of the Chrysler Corporation, said further developments by organic chemists of improved automotive cements and sealers will lead to motor vehicles of greater beauty, comfort, durability and performance. These developments, he said, would include a few all-purpose cements which, applied by brush and spray, would tend to eliminate drafts, dust, wind and noise from auto interiors.

Whenever atomic energy is discussed these days, some authority points out that the physical sciences have gone too far ahead of the social sciences. It appears that the autos of the future, with potential speeds of 150 miles an hour, will have gone too far beyond the possibility of self-control on the part of the average driver.

Announcement the government has a supply of dog-tonal files for sale came too late to insure Fido a happy Christmas.

Under the Soviet's unique plan of free enterprise, that seventeen-pound gold nugget found in Russia will go to the state.

Soviet Russia is now 29 years old physically, with no estimates immediately available on her mental development.

Even more difficult to fathom than the peace that passeth all understanding is this lack of peace a year and a half after the war is over.

Many claim the younger generation is headed in the wrong direction, while the hand-basket will look familiar to grandfather, who is supposed to have landed there in his time.

It is with regret we announce the death of Dr. George W. Adams, of Bristol, on last Friday. Dr. Adams, who had lived in Bristol for over 25 years, was engaged in the practice of dentistry until the last few years of his life when he entered into the real estate business.

Bristol ice dealers are getting their supply of ice from the mill pond. The ice is about five inches thick.

Sheriff Alonzo Nicholas marched out one day last week and captured a whole town, the place being Parkland, where he levied upon about 250 houses, the property of the Neshaminy Park Association.

The houses were built on ground rent and will be sold as personal property. All the dwellings are vacant except two.

Parkland was one of the mushroom towns recently built in Lower Bucks which have proved unprofitable ventures.

Secretary Lamont has written a letter to the Speaker of the House calling attention to the ownership by the United States of a piece of ground in Bucks County, Pa., and recommending the passage of a bill authorizing the sale of the property. The land in question was purchased by the government in 1864 for a burial lot for the interment of soldiers, marines and other persons dying while in the military service of the United States. It contains one acre, was conveyed by George Randall and wife in consideration of the sum of $159, and is situated on the China Hall Road in Bristol Township. The remains of soldiers buried in the lot were removed to the Philadelphia National Cemetery in 1891, and the War Department has no further use for the land.

NEVER IN ALL HISTORY HAS INFLATION BEEN CONTROLLED BY ATTACKING PRICES.

It has been tried a thousand times. There are references to it in the Bible. The Romans tried it. The French tried it. The British tried it. The Germans tried it. On some occasions they used "controls" far more vicious and drastic than anything the modern world would contemplate. Men have been guillotined, tortured, cast into dungeons, in the attempts to fight inflation through prices—and the inflation went merrily along its disaster-bound way.

The inflation which this nation is experiencing is credit and currency inflation. Deficit-financing by the government is the offender. Disbalanced budgets, top-heavy spending, and tax rates too high for our economy to support, are the points where the trouble is focused.

INFLATION WILL CONTINUE UNTIL THESE ARE CORRECTED.

IF THEY ARE NOT CORRECTED SOON, INFLATION WILL GET BEYOND ALL CONTROL, AND NATIONAL BANKRUPTCY WILL RESULT.

The quickest approach to comprehension of the dangers is to face the fact that money is losing its value. Rather than say that prices are going up, put it this way: that money is going down.

That is the fact. Money is losing value because it has been adulterated four times over by the New Deal, and is still being watered; because the nation's assets have been mortgaged by public debt to more than the face of their value; because the Federal government is spending money faster than the country's economy can produce it.

No one likes to admit that "dollars" have slipped down to less than 25 cents in value, and are still skidding.

But that's the fact.

Looked at this way, figures which to President Truman are matters of great pride and confidence become red-flags of danger.

He says production is equal to or past all previous peace-time levels. He is talking of price-valuations, of course—for no one thinks volume production is up to normal. These high dollar levels of production simply reflect inflation and the depreciation of currency.

The President views with pride national earnings of $200 billions a year. But this is really a most frightening figure. Again it confirms the fact that inflation is nearly at the run-away stage.

WHAT'S TO BE DONE?

If a thorn were in your skin hurting you, you'd pull it out. The cure for inflation really is as simple as that.

Over-spending by the government, the constant drift upwards of our net obligations, the persistent adulteration of the currency, and taxes too high for good economic health—these are causing inflation.

The thing to do is to stop them.

Where to begin? That's not nearly so important as beginning at once. The longer we delay, the harder it will be to start. The longer we wait, the greater the danger of collapse.

The thing to do is to make at once whatever step will do the most towards reversing the inflationary trend.

Probably the quickest way to start is to take a healthy swipe at the tax rate.

That is why the Knutson program is so appealing. If taxes are slashed at once, everything else has to give. Spending will slow down if there isn't the money coming in to be spent, and if we stop borrowing on our already over-extended credit.

If you want to put it this way, Uncle Sam has to make a choice of evils.

THE DEADLIEST DANGER WE FACE IS OF RUN-AWAY INFLATION.

It will smash the nation, if not curbed; throw us into insolvency; eat up all the savings and property of the American people; render us destitute; wreck our government; and leave us, as a future, only generations under some form of receivership, probably along the lines of Communism.

EVEN THE POSSIBILITY OF A THIRD WORLD WAR IS NO MORE APPALLING THAN WHAT WE KNOW CERTAINLY LIES AHEAD IF INFLATION IS NOT STOPPED—AND STOPPED AT ONCE.

"Doylestown township can consider itself fortunate because its public officials, the members of the school and road boards, and the Emergency Police take a keen interest in the youth of the community," declared Deputy Clerk of Quarter Sessions Walter C. Schroeder at a meeting of the Doylestown Township Emergency Police at their headquarters at Edison on Wednesday.

"Juvenile crime," continued Mr. Schroeder, "has been on the increase the past year, and this in part is due to delinquency on the part of the parents. I feel that the Boy Scout movement helps in a long way to prevent juvenile delinquency."

Mr. Schroeder praised the good work of the Boy Scouts in the township, and expressed the hope this will be continued.

Now is The Time!

You Don't Need Cash To Improve</

On the left, in this beautifully organized kitchen, is a section designed for better baking, with everything needful within reach of the cook.

By MARION CLYDE McCARROLL

Of course you're not doing a tremendous amount of cake, pie or even bread and biscuit baking these days. That goes without saying, short-ages of sugar and shortening being what they are. So maybe it's a good time to do a little remodeling in the kitchen, and plan ahead for the days when pie and cakes, cookies and biscuits will have their regular place on the baking schedule again.

Pictured here is a kitchen specifically designed for better baking; that is, the special needs of the home baker have been taken into careful consideration in its planning, and a new type of cabinet created to put everything she needs within reach as she works.

If you have a handy husband, or a clever local carpenter, you might take these pictures and go into a huddle with one or the other, and see if between you, a dream corner like this couldn't be worked out right in your own kitchen. In the top picture, you see the kitchen as a whole, with the baking cabinet on the left. Just below, at your left, is a close-up of the baking cabinet, showing how systematically everything has been organized.

The work surface itself is the inside of a horizontal panel that can be turned up, when not in use, in the manner you see in the bottom picture. Containers for handy storing—and reaching—of flour, cake flour, white sugar, brown sugar and other things are sunk into the cabinet along the back under the shelves that hold cookbooks, top, left, and a row of spice, flavorings, etc. Rolls of paper towels, and wax paper are there, too, and cookie and biscuit cutters. On shelves underneath are mixing bowls, flour sifter and the like, while cake, pie and cookie tins are neatly filed in the corner space at right. Wire racks for cooling your baked products pull out from the left-hand end of the cupboard, and there are plenty of drawers for extra storage space.

This particular kitchen set-up, specially built, has cabinets with a brown waxed wood finish, and counter tops and shelves are covered with plain terra cotta linoleum. The shiny brass knobs on cupboard doors and drawers—they'll be available again one of these days—have been given a decorator touch by painting a sunburst effect around them in chartreuse shade. Walls and ceiling are painted this same tone, the brown cabinets are coral inside, and the design of the linoleum on the floor is in harmonizing colors.

Easily Removable Lids Top the convenient bins for flour, sugar, etc., sunk into the cabinet at the back, and shelves hold cookbooks, spices, flavorings. Note pull-out wire racks at left for cooling cookies.

When the Work Surface is no longer needed, turn it up and you have an attractively decorated horizontal panel, revealing a smooth serving counter below and making your whole kitchen look neat as a pin.

FIRE TOWER MAY BE ERECTED AT CO. SEAT

For Safety of Pupils Attending Doylestown Public School

OTHER SUGGESTIONS

DOYLESTOWN, Jan. 13.—Doylestown school board is studying the possibility of constructing a fire tower or erecting additional outside fire escapes at the local school.

Additional safety measures to aid in cases of fire were discussed at a meeting of the board a few nights ago, during which session a letter from George S. Hotchkiss, to Director H. John Rosenberger, was read. The letter advocated additional safety measures at the schools here.

The letter directed attention to the fact that if the huge stairway "well" were to be afire, there would be no escape for the younger children on the East Court street side of the original school building—that the children would be trapped, unable to reach the fire tower or the doors on the Broad street side. The oil soaked floors of the stairway "well," it was explained, would go up in flames almost in an instant.

A question was also raised as to whether there are sufficient fire extinguishers placed where they can be readily found, and whether the teachers are instructed how to use them in an emergency.

Dr. J. Leonard Halderman, supervising principal, stated that an outside fire escape or fire tower would provide excellent escape facilities for pupils in four of the rooms, two on the first and two on the second floor, in the old building.

Mr. Rosenberger, who pointed out that in case of a fire the old, wooden, oil-soaked floors and stairways would become a roaring inferno, stressed the need. President William H. Satterthwaite said: "We can't provide too much safety because during a fire many of the children would become panicky. I think the pupils should be trained to use several routes of escape, depending on their teacher or whoever is in charge in case of an emergency."

Mrs. Ralph B. Schenk expressed the opinion that many of the small youngsters would be fearful of the conventional type of fire escape and that some special "enclosed type" would be preferable.

Wesley Bunting made a motion that the new building, because of knowledge and that the problem be given careful thought.

Dr. Halderman was authorized to contact a fire escape specialist to determine the extent of building and cost involved. One director suggested a "sliding board" escape for the small tots.

Dr. Halderman, who pointed out that the new building because of concrete floors, is fire resistant, reported that the fire doors leading from each floor into the fire tower have been thoroughly checked to see that they operate perfectly mechanically and close tightly.

President Satterthwaite pointed out that smoke and gas cause more deaths than do the actual flames and it is the smoke that would cause the children to develop consternation and terror.

The body, which was still suspended when authorities arrived, in spite of the fact the weight had caused the pipes to sag and break, was removed to the Horner funeral home.

Four Are Attendants At Livesey-Schreiber Wedding

At the Livesey-Schreiber wedding, which took place in St. Mary's R. C. rectory, Saturday afternoon at three o'clock, there were two attendants for the bride and two young men attending the groom.

The ceremony, performed by the Rev. Paul Baird, united Miss Catherine R. Schreiber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Schreiber, Jr., 723 Pine street, and Mr. Milton M. Livesey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Livesey, of Edgely. Mr. Schreiber gave his daughter in marriage. Musicians for the occasion were Miss Margaret Fallon, Corson street, vocalist; and Miss Katherine Hemminger, Edgely, pianist.

The white gown worn by the bride had a bodice of satin, and skirt and train of nylon. Lace was used as trim at the points of the long sleeves. The neckline of the gown was sweetheart style. With this was worn an orange blossom head-dress, and net veil trimmed in satin. Her slippers were satin, and she carried calla lilies.

Miss Mary Schreiber, who attended her sister as maid of honor, was attired in pearl blue; and Miss Elizabeth Marshall, Pine street, bridesmaid, was gowned in pink. The bridesmaids of these gowns were of tulle and the skirts of net. Brocade flowers were used as trim on the side of the skirt fronts; and sleeves were three-quarter length. Their net head-pieces and face veils matched the individual gowns, and the two attendants wore silver slippers. Their arm bouquets were of mixed blossoms.

The two attending Mr. Livesey were Mr. Gordon Fahy, of Edgely, best man; and Mr. Gerald Walterick, Edgely, who served in the capacity of usher.

Chosen by Mrs. Schreiber, mother of the bride, for the occasion, was a dress of navy blue with matching accessories; while Mrs. Livesey, mother of the groom, wore a black dress and accessories. Both wore yellow rosebud corsages.

One hundred and fifty guests were invited to the reception at the Schreiber home, dinner being served.

Upon leaving for eight days honeymoon journey to Florida by automobile, the bride was attired in a gray dress, Kelly green coat with black skunk trim, and black accessories. The newlyweds will make their home at Bristol Terrace II.

The groom saw 3½ years service with the U. S. Navy, he being discharged last December 1st.

Almighty God, our Father, the one who created all things out of nothing, we give thee thanks that thou, O Lord, art not only a God of power, might, and majesty, but that Thou also art a God of love, sympathy, and forgiveness. We acknowledge Thy manifestations of that love in the face of Jesus Christ, who gave Himself for us. In all humbleness and contrition we beg forgiveness for our past sins and pray that in this new year which lies ahead, we may go forward clothed and sheltered in Thy righteousness. Out of a heart of thankfulness and gratitude may we live for Thee under Thy benediction and blessing. Amen.

HARRIMAN FIVE OUT TO MAKE IT SEVEN STRAIGHT

Good Game Expected When
Sixth Ward Boys Meet
Jr. "Hibos" Tonight

FIFTH WARD TO PLAY

Exhibition Game Booked To Start at 6.30 by President Palladino

The Harriman team of the Bristol Youth League will be after its seventh straight win tonight on the Mutual Aid floor as it meets the Junior Hibernians in the first game of the evening. In the second encounter, Fifth Ward will seek its sixth consecutive win against the Keystone Oilers.

President Ralph Palladino has arranged an exhibition game to start at 6.30 o'clock. In this contest, the Shamrocks will play the Croydon Bullets.

The Hibos are out to beat the sixth ward team and figure if their guards can stop the shooting of Stan Lelinski and "Ed" Capriotti they will be in a fine position to turn the trick. Harriman lost one of the best defensive players in the circuit last week when Glenn Shelly reached his 18th birthday.

Fifth Ward does not expect much trouble from the Oilers but the "youngsters" have shown up well in the last few games and may cause the Sporters some trouble.

Race Problem Discussed At Young Adult Dinner

"The Biggest Problem Facing America Today" was the topic discussed Saturday evening at the January supper meeting of the Bucks County Young Adults, held in Bristol Methodist Church.

The speaker of the evening was Nevin Kendall, of Illinois. Mr. Kendall is a Traveling Fellow of the Social Action Committee of the Presbyterian Church. He is a graduate of the McCormick Seminary and active in the field of race relations.

Mr. Kendall explained that this problem is the race problem. He explained at great length the causes of race discrimination and the handicaps of the colored man, because of no fault of his own.

On the positive side, it was brought out that in 1946, 35 Negro teachers were teaching in American colleges and that one Philadelphia department store was employing colored clerks.

Following the address, many questions were answered by Mr. Kendall.

The complete program follows: Invocation, Albert W. Cliffe, associate conference lay leader; dinner, served by Bristol church choir; group singing; introduction of the speaker by the Rev. B. Burns Brodhead, pastor of Bensalem Methodist Church; address, Mr. Kendall; announcements, Lawrence Turtan, president of Bucks county area; recreation, Violet Inglin, second commissioner; "fun with music," games and folk games; fellowship circle.

The speaker for the next meeting to be held March 8th will be the Rev. Frederick E. Maser, pastor of St. James' Methodist Church, Philadelphia. His travelogues, illustrated with color films, were taken by the Rev. Mr. Maser. He will show one entitled "Beautiful and Historic Virginia."
